

On Friday, May 19, 2017, Germantown High School recognized eleven students for the "Student of the Year;" the culminating event of the "Student of the Month" initiative and breakfast. These students were nominated by a teacher or teachers in one of the departments listed below and that teacher then attended the breakfast and presented the reasons for the nomination. The criteria used for selection is: 1) the student goes above and beyond within the classroom, 2) the student has shown dramatic improvement in the classroom and/or 3) the student has earned a high academic achievement. Parents, the student, and their teacher attend this breakfast held before school each month. This final event is an overall commemoration of students for the 2016-17 school-year.

Germantown High School is proud to present this year's recipients:

L-R:

Paige Driebel-English, Summer Benn-Math, Reagan Larson-Music, Hunter Hochmuth-Business Education, Amelia Corona-Art, Kayla Lippincott-World Languages, Jenna Gazzana-Social Studies, Megan Wedal-Science, Riley Kellom-Physical Education

Not pictured: Nicholas Obradovich (Family/Consumer Science) and Michael Cunningham (Technology Education)