

On Friday, April 28, 2017, Germantown High School recognized eleven students for the March "Student of the Month" initiative and breakfast. These students were nominated by a teacher in one of the departments listed below and that teacher then attended the breakfast and presented the reasons for the nomination. The criteria used for selection is: 1) the student goes above and beyond within the classroom, 2) the student has shown dramatic improvement in the classroom and 3) the student has earned a high academic achievement. Parents, the student, and their teacher attend this breakfast held before school each month.

Germantown High School is proud to present this month's recipients:

L-R:

Front row: Emily Grober (Physical Education)

Back row left to right: Megan Schmitz (Health), Sophie Roberts (English), Bryanna Turner (Art), Ryan Borowski (Technology Education), Michael Devine (Business Education), Hans Stelpflug (Social Studies), Krista Meyer (Science), Will Alburg (World Languages), Mackaelyn Wagoner (Music)

Not pictured: Tatum Gallenberger (Mathematics)